The 4th of July:

The Fourth of July—also known as Independence Day or July 4th—has been a federal holiday in the United States since 1941, but the tradition of Independence Day celebrations goes back to the 18th century and the American Revolution. On July 2nd, 1776, the Continental Congress voted in favor of independence, and two days later delegates from the 13 colonies adopted the Declaration of Independence, a historic document drafted by Thomas Jefferson. From 1776 to the present day, July 4th has been celebrated as the birth of American independence, with festivities ranging from fireworks, parades and concerts to more casual family gatherings and barbecues. Falling in mid-summer, the Fourth of July has since the late 19th century become a major focus of leisure activities and a common occasion for family get-togethers, often involving fireworks and outdoor barbecues. The most common symbol of the holiday is the American flag, and a common musical accompaniment is “The Star-Spangled Banner,” the national anthem of the United States.

Things You'll Need:
- Raspberry Lemonade
- Sparkling Water
- Fresh (or frozen) Peaches
- Lemon Juice
- Ice

Sparkling Peach Lemonade

Instructions:
Start by slicing a few fresh peaches into thin slices. (Keep the skin on, let's not add extra work!) Add them to a large pitcher along with fresh lemon slices. Using a wooden spoon, mash the slices as best you can.
Pour in the store bought raspberry lemonade and a bottle of sparkling water. You can also use club soda or ginger ale for an added flavor!
Round out that fresh lemon flavor by adding a few squeezes of fresh lemon juice.
Fill with ice and stir. Or hold the ice and chill in the fridge until ready to enjoy. Stir in the ice right before serving!
